Flood in Chicago.

A THREE DAYS' RAIN CAUSES A SMALL DELUGE.

Great Damage Has Been Done—Streets Look Like Rivers and Many Basements Are Flooded—A Terrible Blizzard Raging over the Western States.

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—A continuous rainfall for three days, which at some time became a downpour, has caused deluges which have rarely been experienced in Chicago and Cook county. In the middle of the city, the water in the gutters is in better shape, not much inconvenience is felt, but in the outer districts the streets look more like rivers than thoroughfares, and many basements are flooded.

Outside of the city many roads are in an impossible condition and the fields are covered with large expanses of water. The Desplains river, the Illinois and Michigan canals, and the local canal are in a state of alarm. In a number of localities the former has burst over its banks and flooded the surrounding country. South Englewood is almost completely submerged. The Desplains river is covered with water and houses are flooded, but no very serious damage has been done so far.

In the stockyards region the same condition exists.

The pumping works at Bridgeport were forced to shut down, the drainage canal being full of water. It was found impossible to force the water out. As a result the current of the river was turned toward Lake Michigan, and all the impurities of the stream were emptied in the direction of the course of Chicago's water supply.

The condition of affairs at Summit is alarming. The water in the Desplains river has risen to within two feet of the top of the dam and it is feared if the water continues to rise, it will overflow into Ogden's ditch and both streams will pour toward Chicago.

At Lacon, Illinois, the Desplains river is rising, threatening the canal. It is feared that the Illinois and Michigan canal will be forced to close, and the water will be forced to flow over the dam.

The rain turned to snow about midnight, the weather suddenly turning cold.

Reports from all parts of the West tell of damage by flood and storm. In Illinois heavy rain has fallen, streams are flooded, making the roads impassable and damaging winter crops. John is threatened with one of the heaviest blizzards in its history. Hickory and Spring creeks are out of their banks and the Desplains river and the lower end of the canal have raised 15 inches. Paines is moving out of their houses and the Desplains river is rising, threatening the canal.

In the vicinity of Lacon, what has been damaged badly by the 35 hours rain, and the roads are impassable. The Desplains river is rising, threatening the canal. It is feared that the Illinois and Michigan canal will be forced to close, and the water will be forced to flow over the dam.

In northern Michigan the rain is also severe. St. Ignace has been hit for 18 hours. Legions of men have been out of the woods, and many points on the Menominee river the starting serious consequences to Menominee and Marquette.

In Minnesota a blizzard raged all day yesterday with alternating rain and snow and with falling temperatures. South Dakota suffered a severe snow storm, which prevailed all day. The snow drifted and a railroad blockade is feared.

Wyckoff is suffering from the worst blizzard it has experienced for years. Snow is 15 inches deep on the level and night and the wind is blowing with gusts of 35 miles an hour. Trains were delayed on the Victoria and Alton roads. A blinding snow is falling and a sharp wind is blowing.

At Grand Island there was five feet of snow in the Union Pacific railroad yards. Telegraph and telephone service is greatly impeded.

Blizzard out West.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 4.—The first blizzard of the season prevails in the West. Missouri, through Kansas and in the territories, the trains at many points in Kansas being delayed. A heavy wind with a fall of 10 to 15 degrees has been experienced at most points with the thermometer still falling. CHINESE JUNGLE IN CHICAGO.

Plans in contemplation to overthrow the present Chinese dynasty.

CHICAGO, Jan. 1.—According to Wang Chin Foo, editor of the Chinese News, Chicago is to become headquarters for the Chinese revolutionary party. This body plans the overthrow of the present Chinese dynasty by an armed invasion from a convenient island in the South seas. Rooms for the junta have been already engaged in this city and the Mongolians here now await the coming of Yang Yat Sen to test the military in operation which is to open China to western civilization.

Sung Yat Sen is the Chinese revolutionary who recently was kidnapped in the streets of London and whose release was effected by Lord Salisbury. He now is collecting money and organizing his followers in America. He will sail for America within two or three weeks where he will confer with Wong Chin Foo of Chicago and other leaders of the Chinese reform party in this country.

Met in the Road.

TUNSA, Miss., Jan. 1.—A shooting affair occurred in the suburbs of this town yesterday, which resulted in the death of S. D. King and wounding of D. R. Allen, both prominent citizens and planters. They met in the road when King drew his pistol and shot Allen in the chest. Allen was killed striking King in the face and killing him instantly. There had been some bad blood between the two men. Allen immediately gave himself up to Sheriff Bopp.

JOSEPH S. SKERRETT.

A Retired Rear Admiral Suddenly Passes Away.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Rear Admiral Joseph S. Skerrett retired, died here yesterday. His death, while sudden, was not wholly unexpected, as he had been in bad health since his retirement from active service, in July, 1884. The admiral was in the 64th year of age, and is survived by a widow, three daughters and two sons. The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon and the interment will be at Arlington.

Admiral Skerrett had a long and honorable career in the service of his country. A native of Ohio, he entered the navy in 1844, and in October, 1848, passed through the various grades, became a lieutenant in 1853, a lieutenant commander in 1859, and was stationed at the Washington navy yard the following year after which he served creditably during the civil war on the Shenandoah and the gunboat Katahdin. He commanded the gunboat Arctostaphylos from 1864 to 1865, and was actually engaged with the Confederate fortifications in the month of the Rappahannock river, Texas, in June, 1864.

Subsequently he spent three years surveying in the Pacific ocean, had command of an expedition to Panama, and another to San Pedro de Macoris, in the troubles with the United States consul, was governor for two years of the naval station at San Pedro de Macoris, in the command of the naval forces on the Pacific in 1870, and in 1871, he commanded the expedition to the Philippines during the revolution.

It is said that because of his suspected sympathy with the annexation party about the time of the Chinese revolution, he was ordered to the Asiatic station, where he rendered valuable service in connection with the troubles in Korea, leading up to the "China-Japanese" war. While on the Asiatic station he was in command of the Asiatic fleet, and in July, 1894, and was ordered home.

A Steamer Commodore Lost Off the Florida Coast.

Probably Sixteen Lives Lost as Only Twenty-Eight Have So Far Been Heard From—Gen. So Far.

Weyler Suddenly Returns to Havana.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 4.—The steamer Commodore, which cleared from this port for Cienfuegos, Cuba, on Saturday night, was lost off the Florida coast, and so far as known only 28 were saved. One boat was washed ashore empty, and another one landed the 12 men. The Commodore carried two other boats, but these have not been heard from.

The steamer is said to have sunk about 30 miles out to sea. The Commodore struck twice while crossing the bar at the mouth of the river, and had been looking almost from the shore.

Major Ricardo A. Delgado, one of the crew, arrived on the train from New Smyrna yesterday morning. He reported that the Commodore was lost off the Florida coast, and that the crew was saved.

DEAD.

Judge Grant Gregory Laid to Rest in The Cloverport Cemetery.

Was a Most Honorable and Highly Respected Citizen.

Resolutions Passed by the City Council and His Lodge.

In the death of Grant Gregory Cloverport loses one of her best citizens. He was a quiet useful citizen and a man whom everybody liked. No man had more friends or fewer enemies than Grant Gregory. He was born and reared here. He loved his town and his people. He was always ready and willing to help his town and his friends. No man ever asked a favor of him which he did not readily grant it was in his power. He was a humble man, a God-fearing man, a man whose word was as good as his bond. Never a harsh word did he utter against his neighbor. A true man, a loving husband a devoted father has gone from among us.

Grant Gregory was born in June 1843 and was a little over fifty-three years of age when he died last Friday. He was married March 27, 1872 to Miss Lucy Simmons, who with two sons Orville and Emmet survive him.

He served all through the war in the 3d Kentucky cavalry. After the war he came home and went into the wharft and commission business with his brother, Mr. J. D. Gregory, which firm has had a continual and successful career for more than twenty-eight years. He was deputy sheriff for many years at Hicksville, Ky. He was elected Judge of this city in 1894 which office he held up to a short time before his death. He was a charter member of Clover Lodge A. O. U. W. which was organized here some five years ago and was the first member the lodge has lost by death since its organization in this city.

His funeral was held at his residence Sunday afternoon and conducted by the Rev. Donald Grant, S. G. Shelley and W. B. Rutledge. He was buried at the Cloverport cemetery by the members of his lodge in their beautiful and impressive ceremony in the presence of a large concourse of friends.

Resolutions Adopted by the Clover Lodge No. 42 A. O. U. W.

The following resolutions were passed on the death of Bro. L. G. Gregory and a copy to be inserted in the BRACKENRIDGE NEWS and also a copy to be sent to the deceased brother's family.

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God in his good providence to send the death angel to our lodge room to summon our beloved brother to another and better life;

Resolved, That in our dear brother's death this lodge has sustained a severe loss and the A. O. U. W. lost a valuable member.

Our brother has passed the bourne from which no traveler returns bringing us to realize that sooner or later we shall have to follow, therefore be it

Resolved, That the lodge extend to our deceased brother's family its profound sympathy and earnestly pray that they may rely upon the strong arm of God who the protector of the widow and the fatherless.

Our dear brother's voice will no longer be heard in our councils but we hope and trust that it is now singing the praises of his Redeemer around the throne of God in heaven.

Truly can it be said of our dear brother that he practiced the principles of the order, that he loved ever to be first in charitable deeds, buoyant in hope and in being a member of the A. O. U. W. throwing the great arms of protection over our dear brother his family.

May his memory ever be green in the hearts of the members of Clover Lodge No. 42.

Scott Robertson Buys A Part of the Davidson Land.

Agent Curtis wants the post office.

Mrs. Olmstead has returned from a visit to Stephensport.

Mr. Olie Haynes and wife have taken rooms at Mrs. Lucy Hunter's.

Miss Monna Hunter spent last week visiting friends in Rockport, Ky.

Mr. Dick Moorman spent last week with his brother, at Brandenburg.

Judge Mercer was here Saturday. It was professional business of course.

Miss Mary Moorman left to-day for Russellville where she will enter school.

Attorneys Jesse Eakridge and Allen Kinschloe were here Saturday attending trial.

Rich Hudson and G. L. Cornwell came down from Louisville and hunted with John and Charley Dane.

Scott Robertson was here Saturday. He has recently purchased a part of the Davidson land for $100, a cheap purchase.

Pierce Hardaway came down from Bewleyville Saturday for the double purpose of visiting relatives and calling on a fair lady.

Pedagogue Hardaway, formerly our school superintendent, dismissed his school for one day and ran down to Glendane to see "his best."

McClure, the Leader man, was here Saturday. By the way, thanks to the Glendane correspondent of the Leader for kind things said recently.

J. H. Pile spent Christmas and the week following in study under the direction of his old teacher now at Sturgis, Ky. Upsilon moves its teachers.

Miss Beale Allen, daughter of Dan Allen, has been sick for two weeks of typhoid fever. She is recovering now, and we hope to have her back among us soon.

Judge Mercer's big heart started him into the New Year by urging all the belated travelers on Friday night's train to stop over night with him in Harborsburg.

Miss Annie Green agrees to teach a private school, beginning March 1st. She deserves liberal patronage and none wishes her more success than does your correspondent.

Reports from Vic Robertson, at Dawson Springs are not very encouraging. Vic's friends are as numerous as his acquaintances, and all hope he may return much improved.

Sherman Ball was talking nice to Glendane Republican Sturgis. Sherman is going to make a fine race in that primary, and if nominated will hustle some good D-mocrat next fall.

Christmas was very pleasant here. Santa Claus was unusually good to the little folks, Christmas gifts were numerous, and the young people enjoyed themselves at parties where all went merrily.

Conductor Tilford told your correspondent New Year's night that he was then beginning his eighth year with the road. His popularity will doubtless hold him eight years more if he chooses to remain.

Upsilon pupils were generously thoughtful of their teachers when the happy Christmas season came. These reminders of friendship all tend to make us believe, "Life is worth living" and that Glendane still has the best when it comes to unselfish people.

W. C. Moorman recovered something over a $100 worth of clothing last week, that had been stolen from him. A young colored fellow had been carrying it away in small lots until his success had rendered him careless, which carelessness led to his discovery and arrest.

STURGIS, KY.

It is unusually so, when one goes and pleasantly visits, he often sees with magnifying eyes, and though in the main he has a truthful fellow, his accounts are not entirely reliable. Then it behooves one, after an enjoyed visit to friends in Union county, to be quite guarded in his description. Forgetting therefore, if doing this thing was possible, the one evening kindnesses of those people, and assuming the nonchalance of an experienced and less youthful traveler, I'll to the point.

Union is one of the best counties in the State and, and an unending source of trick here yield both of corn and wheat exceeds that of any of our 118 sister counties. Much of the land is low and level, and we set our eyes upon the corn fields with the yield from her fertile soil, last year being one of her best years. Drainage, however, is becoming thorough and better results will follow later.

At Sturgis, Mr. Long, proprietor and owner of the shoe and brick factory, was careful to show us through his establishment, explaining as he went and cheerfully answering our numerous inquiries. The proper claims are at hand for soft and fire-bricks and any amount of tilting. He complains of hard times and a diminished trade in consequence.

But to Sturgis. It is a new town, begun eight or nine years ago and growing steadily—there are several new houses going up now—it is not entitled to organization into a fifth class city. It is just such a good country town as delights you to see. Its people, nearly all farmers until recently, are yet country people in heart and action—the best people in the world. Excuse us, you town residents, but as some one has said, "God made the country, but man made the town," and it sometimes seems that man has gone on in making cities, but from country and towns will be his married interest to build. But enough! They are all anxious to build up the Ohio Valley College and with open arms welcome the inquiring student. With a commodious, modern, newly-built $15,000 brick building, cheap board, reduced railroad rates to all students, they are going to have one of the best schools in the State.

And our own popular Prof. Shacklett, known to every man and woman in Breckenridge and Meade counties, is President of this institution. He is in fine health, excellent spirits, active as a boy, talkative as a girl, constantly on the lookout for pupils and school success, and has a bright prospect before him. He and Prof. Lamb are doubtless fixtures at Sturgis and will soon remove those wealthy farmers, mine owners, etc., to the importance of thorough schooling for their girls and boys. Both men are more than pleased with the little city and its hospitable people.

Sturgis is preeminently a city of churches. One need not be a Washingtonian to find there across the Potomac to stand in his tracks and with five stones reach so many different churches did he choose to reach them by throwing.

The people all seem to be Christians and are nearly all Democrats—of course this is not strange, the two are fit companions. The county gave Bryan over 2,000 majority in the recent election.

Cooling is actively carried on in the suburbs of the town and ready employment, I am told, awaits all who want work.

Miss Catherine Stierrett, of North Dakota, who has been visiting relatives near Irvington, went to Louisville Sunday for a three month's stay with her Uncle Mr. H. W. Herndon.

Some Rambling Thoughts

(Copyrighted)

There is no government so decidedly under the notice of the American people as this time as the Spanish. This is because its methods of management in Cuba come very near to being a scandal. Whether our indignation, political, or actual, would be as deep if Cuba were 3,000 miles away, is an open question; or much that is said and done in Congress and out of it savors greatly of politics and wire-pulling, while real sympathy never avails of either.

So, though by long I have been asked for an expression of opinion upon the Cuban question, I shall not give it (at any rate not yet), for the great ones of the country, still left to me, are the right thing to do. However, if your readers will allow me, I will spend a short time considering Spain as a nation. Its desperate methods in Cuba are not, however, clearly understood. To consider an individual carefully, to weigh his faults and strengths, is always interesting. To do the same thing to a nation is always interesting also, but more complicated. I may, therefore, be in error in my judgments. That I leave to your readers.

In the fifteenth century Spain was a respected power in Europe. As a nation it had been solidified out of a number of Christian elements, and a common religion to the Moorish conquerors. In the sixteenth century it had grown to an enormous empire, with vast territories in the richest portions of the New World. Streams of gold and silver constantly pouring into its coffers from these conquered possessions. At the close of the eighteenth, and the beginning of the nineteenth, centuries, Spain lost portions of this vast nation began one by one to sever all relations, until at present it retains its hold upon only two regions of any great importance, Cuba in the West, and the Philippine Islands in the East. Judging by the past century, and the less to Spain of every possession in both South and North America, it seems not unwise to predict that the beginning of the twentieth century will see it return once more to the actual limits of its possessions in the fifteenth. Now, then, what can have operated to bring on such decay of prestige, while other European nations, like Germany and England, Russia and Italy, France and Austria, have been able to keep the same measure pretty close together in their development—mental and moral? Briefly put, I should sum the cause up as (1) religious intolerance for God; (2) greed for gold; (3) the transfer of Spain to a wrong colonial policy; (4) unpopularity. On only two of these features shall I have space to dwell this time. The balance will be referred to in my next.

Altogether Spain seems to have been possessed of a democratic spirit, and a devotion that has taken varied forms in four centuries, but which, through them all, has been forcing Spain steadily on toward annihilation. It was with the Moors fastened a strong national spirit, and because the wars were religious in character, they tended also to make Spain the stronghold of Catholicism. So long as that spirit lasted, Spain was strengthened by the conflict; for in certain stages of human progress war, with its attendant honor, seems to have been, if not a necessary feature, at any rate, an aid to civilization. But Spain, when the conquest was practically complete, and the remaining Moors had settled down to agriculture and to trade, burning with zeal for the faith, their bloody imaginations, called in to aid in the complete extermination of every heretic, that Jewish devil for popular Hebrew and saving souls. "The Inquisition." Their conquests in the New World also were in the beginning religious conquests. Their adventures were to win glory for God, and to win the name of Almighty God, most joyfully did they slay without compunction.

The demon of Spain, burning with the lust of conquest, drank with blood of its best children, personified by Pizarro in Peru, and Cortes in Mexico, by treachery and by superiority of arms, by subterfuge and by outrage, destroyed the civilization of the Incas and ravished the possessions of Montezuma. Everywhere the thought was expressed, "We are here for the Catholic faith. But as always with religion lacking the true religious elements of selfishness and enmity, it became a mere religion for greed and wickedness inseparable.

It is safe to say that any nation that places its hopes for permanency upon a misconception of God's character, is building its structure upon the sands. That strange royal pair, Ferdinand and Isabella, combined in themselves an intense greed for gold and a religious intolerance. When their country could produce such devoted servants of God as Loyola and Saint Theresa, we must indeed believe there was a will to religious fervor. But also when we consider the servant of Ferdinand and Isabella, the ferocious Torquemada, we are compelled to realize that with religion, was a tremendous admission of greed. After the Inquisition became thoroughly established, it was found so easy to secretly dispose of men and women of wealth that to Ferdinand and Isabella, the temptation was too overpowering. So, while Isabella's fanatical soul was satisfied with the works of the Holy Office, Ferdinand turned to the work of himself in replenishing his treasury.

work of the Inquisition became, in short time else but robbery and murder in the name of God. If the walls of Ercul could speak, a cry for vengeance would be audible to human ears, would stir the human heart. With the same spirit of lust for wealth, the colonies were always regarded as fair prey to be made only stripped of everything valuable that was compact and transportable. Precious metals became common in Spain, wealth was on every side, luxury was all pervasive. Yet in the midst of the greatest material prosperity, the demon of self-destruction was unobtrusively at work, for any nation that puts its trust in material wealth for permanency also builds its structure upon the sands.

Those Other Ayers.

The J. C. Ayer Co. of Lowell, Mass., has no monopoly of the name of Ayer, and does not wish to have. But it is somewhat unfortunate, that the world-wide familiarity with the name of the J. C. Ayer Co., makes people jump at the conclusion that there are no other Ayers. This is especially true in the medical business and their goods get mixed up in the popular mind with the record and reputation that has been built up by the J. C. Ayer Co. in the cure of hemorrhoids. Of course it is not the fault of these other Ayers, that people make such mistakes. But they do make them and they write to the J. C. Ayer Co., letters asking all sorts of questions about these other Ayers which the J. C. Ayer Co. cannot answer because it does not know who these Ayers are. Some of the most common names of these other Ayers are: Dr. Ayer's Pills, Dr. Ayer's Catarrh, Dr. Ayer's Kidney, Dr. Ayer's Stomach, Dr. Ayer's Blood, Dr. Ayer's Skin, Dr. Ayer's Hair, Dr. Ayer's
